

“GIANT LOVE SONG”

A One-Woman Performance featuring

Maureen Muldoon

Friday, January 26th 2018 from 7:30 PM to 9:30 PM

at the beautiful Garden of Life Spiritual Center,

9525 Eddie and Park Road, St. Louis, MO 63126

Join us for a for a night of poetry, storytelling, music and song as Maureen takes us on a personal journey inspired by her new book, Giant Love Song – A Memoir.

“Beneath every broken-hearted story is a love song, a lesson, or a blessing. These experiences are an invitation to find our most authentic and helpful voices. We are each responsible for delivering our stories and finding our own voices... In Giant Love Song, Maureen Muldoon has become her own historian. She has found and honors the voice of resistance, the voice of fear, the voice of willingness, and finally the voice of resurrection. No matter what our stories are, we all must learn to rise. Enjoy the journey through this giant love song, and allow it to crack you open. Finding that place, that open wound, travel to your tender spots, and let it inform you. Be willing to wait and listen. It is in these universal classrooms of love and losses that we will find our redemption and healing... The deeper truth of our universal potential lies deep within the heart of the individual. However, it does not hurt to have some mighty companions along the journey. If you are looking to be reminded that we are each an essential and Divine thread in love’s tapestry, this book [and one-woman performance] is for you.” Dr. Tererai Trent, from the forward of a Giant Love Song
